THE INVESTIGATION INTO THE LATE DUEL -The Richmond correspondent of the Petersburg Express savs:---

"The investigation of the late duel, continues to engross public attention. You were informed vesterday that a habeas corpus was awarded in the case of Mr. Pryor, who had been committed for contempt of court, in refusing to answer certain interrogatories relating to the whereabouts of Mr. Clemens on the morning of the 17th. This was argued until a late hour yesterday, before Judge Meredith, by Messrs. Randolph, Crump and Lyons for Mr. Pryor, and Messrs. Young and Johnson for the commonwealth; after which the Judge postponed further proceedings until this morning. Mr. Pryor was not kept in confinement last night, but released on his parole of honor.

Mr. Francis J. Smith, proprietor of the Central Hotel, who also declined answering the interrogatories propounded to him, was recognized to appear before the parties this morning.

To-day, at 12 o'clock the parties again uppeared before Judge Meredith, with a large number of spectators, all desirous of learning the Judge's opinion, but it will not be delivered until after further argument. Mr. Pryor was admitted to bail for his appearance tomorrow in the sum of $1500.

Other witnesses have been called to-day, one of whom, Mr. Dodd, testified to having seen seven persons on the ground at Fairfield Race course on the morning of the 17th, but does not no who they were. One he says had long hair; but this will scarcely apply to one more than another of the parties.

A Mr. Mayo has also been called to testify on the subject. He declined answering certain questions, and was recognized for his appearance to-morrow."

YELLOW FEVER AT RICHMOND .- In the forenoon of yesterday we received the following RICHMOND, Sept. 21, 1858.

Rumor has it, that the yellow fever is in the city, that is, that some seamen on board a vessel which arrived here some time last week were infected with it, and have b en removed to the Small Pox hospital. No doubt this will get abroad extensively, and as it is probable it may be exaggerated, and a talse alarm may be created, I suggest to you to enquire into the matter and give the true state of the case to the public. A CITIZEN Respectfully, Immediately on receiving this note we proceeded to the Small Pox Hospital. On reaching there we met Mr. Henry Myers, and by him were conducted into a ward where we found three seamen named Matthew Sylva, Peter Polyment and Win. Pengelly, lying is very much like James Trammell in appearsick of decided yellow fever, one of them so ill that his recovery is very doubtful.

We ascertained that these men were brought up to the hospital from a lumber la- report originated. den brig from Savannah, now lying below the bar at Rockets, and on board which there are at present, the Captain, his wife, first and second mates and one seaman, all well.

That cases of yellow fever could be in our city for many days without its being widely known, is impossible, and therefore we have thought it but right to ascertain the exact na. popular with its patrons, resigned that office 26 Sun lay ... 6 4 5 56 First qr. 14 7 33 g ture of the case, and publish an authentic mand has arisen, and prices have materially ad- statement thereof, in order to prevent the spread of exaggerated rumors or groundless

Jamieson's Foundry. - Yesterday afternoon, we dropped into the Foundry of our friend, T. S. Jamieson, esq., and were somewhat astonished at the amount of work we by D A. Lowe.

Our different Railroad Companies have discovered that work can be performed just as well, and as cheap, in Alexandria, as in any covery, instead of going North, as usual, same day. have given their orders to Jamieson, and be is now engaged in turning out car-wheels of a superior quality, for the Orange and Mapassas Gap Roads. These wheels are composed of three different kinds of iron, (all dug from Virginia mines,) which are melted together and east in iron moulds. The molteo mass, on coming in contact with the iron, becomes instantly chilled, and the outer rim of the wheel durable as hardened steel. This enables the wheel to resist the wear and tear of the rails; and, judging from some experiments which we witnessed, we think they are better fitted for this purpose than wheels manufactured upon any other plan. One can form an idea of their durability, when we state that steel cannot cut them. In view of the contract into which he has intered with the Alexandria, Loudoun, and Hampshire Railroad Company, for which he is about to build fourteen cars, and in anticipation of further orders from that and other Companies in Alexandria, Mr. Jamieson is erecting a large workshop, 40 icet by 70, and one story high. Mr. Jamieson is also engaged in casting nines for the Gas and Water Companies, and s turning out, daily, machines of every kind, which, for cheapnesss and workmanship, cannot be excelled by any astablishment of the kind in the country .- Virginia Sentinel.
